5. Business as Usual Performance Report

Paul Gwynn, Pensions and Payroll Manager, presented the Business-as-Usual Performance Report, that outlined the basic demographics, activity levels/performance and the Internal Dispute Resolution Procedure.

Following queries on the time lag for the process of requests from members of the scheme, Paul Gwynn, Pension and Payroll Manager, advised the Board that not all requests would fall within the 2-month response deadline, as per regulations, so could take longer to process/respond to. System providers would not be implementing relevant changes until revised legislation had been provided. This had been anticipated to be published in October 2023. Paul Gwynn acknowledged the issues faced and advised the team may be required to only provide statutory responses. The Chair of the Board expressed the need to communicate this with Members and the need to have a dedicated page on the WMFS website on pensions. This would be raised with Ferg Slade under agenda item 8.

Following queries around the use of two systems, as per report, that there had been no correlation between the systems and the use of two systems had been deemed as the most cost-effective option. All Membership would be added to the Oracle Fusion system and would go live on 1 May 2023 for all active members and before the 1 August for the remaining members. A trial had been underway of the system, with some of those trialling the system being unable to access the system. The IT team had been working with the system provider, but it was acknowledged the issue had been a national problem. The timescales had been unclear at this stage as it was acknowledged that the trial would need to end, and any issues raised would need to be rectified before the system could be implemented. It was agreed that Kamla Devi-Ahir and Paul Gwynn would discuss the timescales with the responsible officer to agree timescales and approach moving forward. The need to communicate with members was emphasised.

Resolved:

1. That it be agreed that the Business-as-Usual Performance Report be noted.
2. That it be agreed that Kamla Devi-Ahir and Paul Gwynn would discuss the timescales for Oracle with the responsible officer to agree timescales and approach moving forward.

Following discussions on the lack of information on the WMFS website on Pension Board and lack of information to contact the Pension Board Members, Ferg reassured Members that a page could be added to the WMFS website with information the Board felt relevant and a Q&A section to aide the pressures on the Pension team with the assistance of the Board. 4. SYSTEMS UPDATE

4.1 ALTAIR Member Self-service

Access to ALTAIR Member self-service was rolled out to active scheme members from 22nd May 2023. The roll out generated a number of enquiries from members and these are currently being resolved by the team.

The current level of access enables members to view the data held about them and update it as needed. It will also allow them to view their Annual Benefit Statements online.

At this point the benefit estimate tool is only useable by members who are not subject to remedy.

4.2 ORACLE Fusion

The trial proved to be successful and we have a number of pensioners who can access their payslips online. Rolling this option out to the remaining pensioners however will have a financial cost. The exact cost is currently unconfirmed.

ORACLE have indicated that the same result could be achieved if we configure the system in a different way. This would require us to set up all of our current pensioners on the system from scratch again and rebuild our payroll environment. There will be a cost associated with this work and also a risk regarding reporting to HMRC. To minimise the risk and to build in enough time to undertake the rebuild any changes will not take place before 31st March 2024.

FIRE FIGHTERS PENSION FUND

Reporting Breaches Procedure

MARCH 2017

1. Introduction

- 1.1 This document sets out the procedures to be followed by certain persons involved with the West Midlands Fire Service (WMFS) Fire Fighters Pension Fund, managed and administered by WMFS, in relation to reporting breaches of the law to the Pensions Regulator.
- 1.2 Breaches can occur in relation to a wide variety of the tasks normally associated with the administrative function of a scheme such as keeping records, internal controls, calculating benefits and making investment or investment-related decisions.
- 1.3 This Procedure document applies, in the main, to:
- all members of the WMFS Pension Board;
 - all officers involved in the management of the scheme such as: Audit Committee as Scheme Manager of the Pension Fund, members of the Finance Team and Pensions Administration Team, and the Strategic enabler for Resources (Section 151 Officer and Deputy);
 - any professional advisers including auditors, actuaries, legal advisers and fund managers; and
 - officers of employers participating in the WMFS Fire Fighters Pension Fund who are responsible for Fire Fighters Pension Scheme matters.

2. Requirements

- 2.1 This section clarifies the full extent of the legal requirements and to whom they apply.
- 2.2 Pensions Act 2004
Section 70 of the Pensions Act 2004 (the Act) imposes a requirement on the following persons:
- a trustee or manager of an occupational or personal pension scheme;
 - a member of the pension board of a public service pension scheme;
 - a person who is otherwise involved in the administration of such a scheme an occupational or personal pension scheme;
 - the employer in relation to an occupational pension scheme;
 - a professional adviser in relation to such a scheme; and
 - a person who is otherwise involved in advising the trustees or managers of an occupational or personal pension scheme in relation to the scheme, to report a matter to The Pensions Regulator as soon as is reasonably practicable where that person has reasonable cause to believe that:
 - (a) a legal duty relating to the administration of the scheme has not been or is not being complied with, and

- (b) the failure to comply is likely to be of material significance to The Pensions Regulator.

The Act states that a person can be subject to a civil penalty if he or she fails to comply with this requirement without a reasonable excuse. The duty to report breaches under the Act overrides any other duties the individuals listed above may have. However the duty to report does not override 'legal privilege'. This means that, generally, communications between a professional legal adviser and their client, or a person representing their client, in connection with legal advice being given to the client, do not have to be disclosed.

2.3 The Pension Regulator's Code of Practice

Practical guidance in relation to this legal requirement is included in The Pension Regulator's Code of Practice including in the following areas:

- implementing adequate procedures.
- judging whether a breach must be reported.
- submitting a report to The Pensions Regulator.
- whistleblowing protection and confidentiality.

2.4 Application to the WMFS Fire Fighters Pension Fund

This procedure has been developed to reflect the guidance contained in The Pension Regulator's Code of Practice in relation to the WMFS Fire Fighters Pension Fund and this document sets out how the Board will strive to achieve best practice through use of a formal reporting breaches procedure.

3 The WMFS Fire Fighters Pension Fund Reporting Breaches Procedure

The following procedure details how individuals responsible for reporting and whistleblowing can identify, assess and report (or record if not reported) a breach of law relating to the WMFS Fire Fighters Pension Fund. It aims to ensure individuals responsible are able to meet their legal obligations, avoid placing any reliance on others to report. The procedure will also assist in providing an early warning of possible malpractice and reduce risk.

3.1 Clarification of the law

Individuals may need to refer to regulations and guidance when considering whether or not to report a possible breach. Some of the key provisions are shown below:

- Section 70(1) and 70(2) of the Pensions Act 2004:
www.legislation.gov.uk/ukpga/2004/35/contents •
- Employment Rights Act 1996:
www.legislation.gov.uk/ukpga/1996/18/contents
- Occupational and Personal Pension Schemes (Disclosure of Information) Regulations 2013 (Disclosure Regulations):

www.legislation.gov.uk/ukxi/2013/2734/contents/made

- Public Service Pension Schemes Act 2013:
www.legislation.gov.uk/ukpga/2013/25/contents
- Fire Fighter Pension Regulations 1991, 2006, (INclude links)
- The Pensions Regulator's Code of Practice:
<http://www.thepensionsregulator.gov.uk/codes/code-governance-administration-publicservice-pension-schemes.aspx>

In particular, individuals should refer to the section on 'Reporting breaches of the law', and for information about reporting late payments of employee or employer contributions, the section of the code on 'Maintaining contributions'.

Further guidance and assistance can be provided by the Head of Finance Governance & Assurance (s151 Officer) and Monitoring Officer, provided that requesting this assistance will not result in alerting those responsible for any serious offence (where the breach is in relation to such an offence).

3.2 Clarification when a breach is suspected

Individuals need to have reasonable cause to believe that a breach has occurred, not just a suspicion. Where a breach is suspected the individual should carry out further checks to confirm the breach has occurred. Where the individual does not know the facts or events, it will usually be appropriate to check with the Strategic Enabler for Resources as 151 Officer or the Deputy 151 Officer, the Monitoring Officer, a member of the Pension Board or others who are able to explain what has happened. However, there are some instances where it would not be appropriate to make further checks, for example, if the individual has become aware of theft, suspected fraud or another serious offence and they are also aware that by making further checks there is a risk of either alerting those involved or hampering the actions of the police or a regulatory authority. In these cases The Pensions Regulator should be contacted without delay.

3.3 Determining whether the breach is likely to be of material significance

To decide whether a breach is likely to be of material significance an individual should consider the following, both separately and collectively:

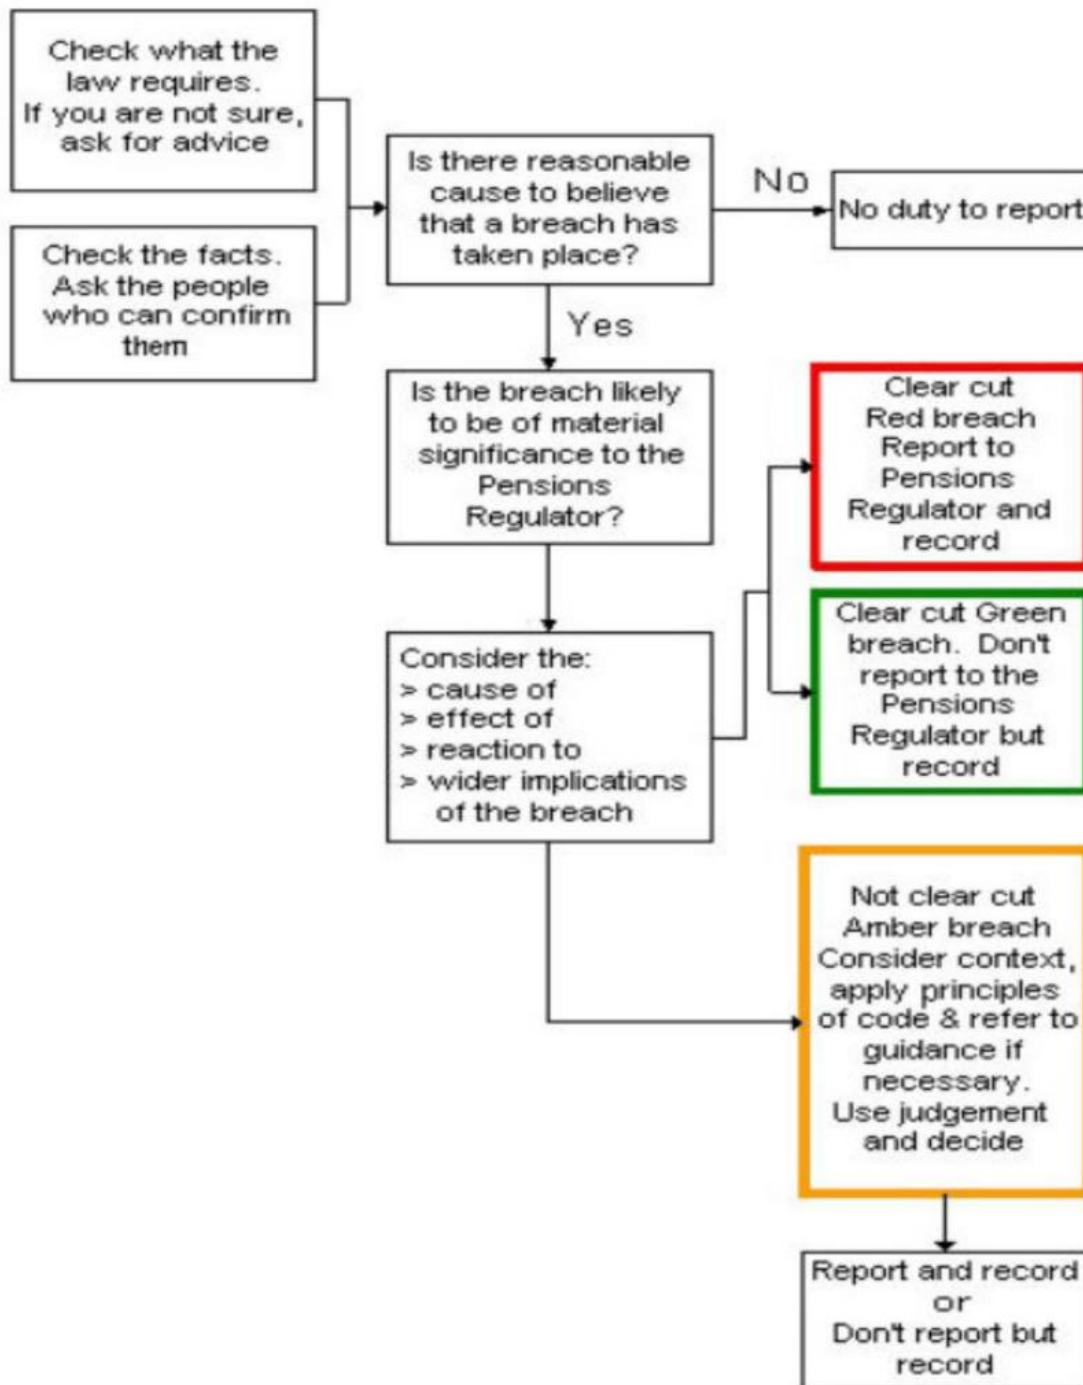

- cause of the breach (what made it happen);
- effect of the breach (the consequence(s) of the breach);
- reaction to the breach; and
- wider implications of the breach.

Further details on the above four considerations are provided in Appendix A to this procedure.

The individual should use the traffic light framework described in Appendix B to help assess the material significance of each breach and to formally support and document their decision.

- 3.4 A decision tree is provided below to show the process for deciding whether or not a breach has taken place and whether it is materially significant and therefore requires to be reported.

Decision-tree: deciding whether to report

3.5 Referral to a level of seniority for a decision to be made on whether to report

WMFS has a designated Monitoring Officer to ensure the Fire Authority and Service acts and operates within the law. They are considered to have appropriate experience to help investigate whether there is reasonable cause to believe a breach has occurred, to check the law and facts of the case, to maintain records of all breaches and to assist in any reporting to The Pensions Regulator, where appropriate. If breaches relate to late or incorrect payment of contributions or pension benefits, the matter should be highlighted to the Strategic Enabler for Resources and 151 Officer at the earliest opportunity to ensure the matter is resolved as a matter of urgency. Individuals must bear in mind, however, that the involvement of the Monitoring Officer is to help clarify the potential reporter's thought process and to ensure this procedure is followed. The reporter remains responsible for the final decision as to whether a matter should be reported to The Pensions Regulator.

The matter should not be referred to any of these officers if doing so will alert any person responsible for a possible serious offence to the investigation (as highlighted in section 2). If that is the case, the individual should report the matter to The Pensions Regulator setting out the reasons for reporting, including any uncertainty – a telephone call to the Regulator before the submission may be appropriate, particularly in more serious breaches.

3.6 Dealing with complex cases

The Strategic Enabler Resourcing and 151 Officer or Monitoring Officer may be able to provide guidance on particularly complex cases. Information may also be available from national resources such as the Scheme Advisory Board. If timescales allow, legal advice or other professional advice can be sought and the case can be discussed at the next Board meeting.

3.7. Timescales for reporting

The Pensions Act and Pension Regulators Code require that if an individual decides to report a breach, the report must be made in writing as soon as reasonably practicable. Individuals should not rely on waiting for others to report and nor is it necessary for a reporter to gather all the evidence which The Pensions Regulator may require before taking action. A delay in reporting may exacerbate or increase the risk of the breach. The time taken to reach the judgements on “reasonable cause to believe” and on “material significance” should be consistent with the speed implied by ‘as soon as reasonably practicable’. In particular, the time taken should reflect the seriousness of the suspected breach.

3.8 Early identification of very serious breaches

In cases of immediate risk to the scheme, for instance, where there is any indication of dishonesty, The Pensions Regulator does not expect reporters to seek an explanation or to assess the effectiveness of proposed remedies. They should only make such immediate checks as are necessary. The more serious the potential breach and its consequences, the more urgently reporters should make these necessary checks. In cases of potential dishonesty the reporter should avoid, where possible, checks which might alert those implicated. In serious cases, reporters should use the quickest means possible to alert The Pensions Regulator to the breach.

3.9 Recording all breaches even if they are not reported

The record of past breaches may be relevant in deciding whether to report a breach (for example it may reveal a systemic issue). WMFS will maintain a record of all breaches identified by individuals and reporters should therefore provide copies of reports to the Strategic Enabler Resources and 151 Officer. Records of unreported breaches should also be provided as soon as reasonably practicable and certainly no later than within 20 working days of the decision made not to report. These will be recorded alongside all reported breaches. The record of all breaches (reported or otherwise) will be included in the quarterly Monitoring Report at each Pension Committee, and this will also be shared with the Pension Board.

3.10 Reporting a breach

Reports must be submitted in writing via The Pensions Regulator's online system at www.tpr.gov.uk/exchange, or by post, email or fax, and should be marked urgent if appropriate. If necessary, a written report can be preceded by a telephone call. Reporters should ensure they receive an acknowledgement for any report they send to The Pensions Regulator. The Pensions Regulator will acknowledge receipt of all reports within five working days and may contact reporters to request further information. Reporters will not usually be informed of any actions taken by The Pensions Regulator due to restrictions on the disclosure of information.

As a minimum, individuals reporting should provide:

- full scheme name (WMFS Fire Fighters Pension Fund);
- description of breach(es);
- any relevant dates;
- name, position and contact details;
- role in connection to the scheme; and
- employer name or name of scheme manager (the latter is West Midlands Fire and Rescue Authority - Audit Committee).

If possible, reporters should also indicate:

- the reason why the breach is thought to be of material significance to The Pensions Regulator;
- scheme address (provided at the end of this procedures document);
- scheme manager contact details (provided at the end of this procedures document);
- pension scheme registry number (xxxxxxxx); and include
- whether the breach has been reported before.

The reporter should provide further information or reports of further breaches if this may help The Pensions Regulator in the exercise of its functions. The Pensions Regulator may make contact to request further information.

3.11 Confidentiality

If requested, The Pensions Regulator will do its best to protect a reporter's identity and will not disclose information except where it is lawfully required to do so. If an individual's employer decides not to report and the individual employed by them disagrees with this and decides to report a breach themselves, they may have protection under the Employment Rights Act 1996 if they make an individual report in good faith.

3.12 Reporting to Pensions Committee and Pension Board

A report will be presented to the Pensions Committee and the Pension Board on a quarterly basis setting out:

- all breaches, including those reported to The Pensions Regulator and those unreported, with the associated dates;
- in relation to each breach, details of what action was taken and the result of any action (where not confidential);
- any future actions for the prevention of the breach in question being repeated; and
- highlighting new breaches which have arisen in the last year/since the previous meeting.

This information will also be provided upon request by any other individual or organisation (excluding sensitive/confidential cases or ongoing cases where discussion may influence the proceedings). An example of the information to be included in the quarterly reports is provided in Appendix C to this procedure.

3.13 Review

This Reporting Breaches Procedure was originally developed in November 2015. It will be kept under review and updated as considered appropriate by the Strategic Enabler Resourcing and 151 Officer. It may be changed as a result of legal or regulatory changes, evolving best practice and ongoing review of the effectiveness of the procedure.

Appendix A

Determining whether a breach is likely to be of material significance

To decide whether a breach is likely to be of material significance individuals should consider the following elements, both separately and collectively:

- cause of the breach (what made it happen);
- effect of the breach (the consequence(s) of the breach);
- reaction to the breach; and
- wider implications of the breach.

The cause of the breach

Examples of causes which are likely to be of concern to The Pensions Regulator are provided below:

- acting, or failing to act, in deliberate contravention of the law;
- dishonesty;
- incomplete or inaccurate advice;
- poor administration, i.e. failure to implement adequate administration procedures;
- poor governance; or
- slow or inappropriate decision-making practices.

When deciding whether a cause is likely to be of material significance individuals should also consider:

- whether the breach has been caused by an isolated incident such as a power outage, fire, flood or a genuine one-off mistake.
- whether there have been any other breaches (reported to The Pensions Regulator or not) which when taken together may become materially significant.

The effect of the breach

Examples of the possible effects (with possible causes) of breaches which are considered likely to be of material significance to The Pensions Regulator in the context of the LGPS are given below:

- Committee/Board members not having enough knowledge and understanding, resulting in pension boards not fulfilling their roles, the scheme not being properly governed and administered and/or scheme managers breaching other legal requirements.
- Conflicts of interest of Committee or Board members, resulting in them being prejudiced in the way in which they carry out their role and/or the ineffective governance and administration of the scheme and/or scheme managers breaching legal requirements.

- Poor internal controls, leading to schemes not being run in accordance with their scheme regulations and other legal requirements, risks not being properly identified and managed and/or the right money not being paid to or by the scheme at the right time.
- Inaccurate or incomplete information about benefits and scheme information provided to members, resulting in members not being able to effectively plan or make decisions about their retirement.
- Poor member records held, resulting in member benefits being calculated incorrectly and/or not being paid to the right person at the right time.
- Misappropriation of assets, resulting in scheme assets not being safeguarded.
- Other breaches which result in the scheme being poorly governed, managed or administered.

The reaction to the breach

A breach is likely to be of concern and material significance to The Pensions Regulator where a breach has been identified and those involved:

- do not take prompt and effective action to remedy the breach and identify and tackle its cause in order to minimise risk of recurrence;
- are not pursuing corrective action to a proper conclusion; or
- fail to notify affected scheme members where it would have been appropriate to do so.

The wider implications of the breach

Reporters should also consider the wider implications when deciding whether a breach must be reported. The breach is likely to be of material significance to The Pensions Regulator where the fact that a breach has occurred makes it more likely that further breaches will occur within the Fund or, if due to maladministration by a third party, further breaches will occur in other pension schemes.

Appendix B

Traffic light framework for deciding whether or not to report

It is recommended that those responsible for reporting use the traffic light framework when deciding whether to report to The Pensions Regulator. This is illustrated below:

Where the cause, effect, reaction and wider implications of a breach, when considered together, are likely to be of material significance.

These must be reported to The Pensions Regulator.

Example: Several members' benefits have been calculated incorrectly. The errors have not been recognised and no action has been taken to identify and tackle the cause or to correct the errors.

Where the cause, effect, reaction and wider implications of a breach, when considered together, may be of material significance. They might consist of several failures of administration that, although not significant in themselves, have a cumulative significance because steps have not been taken to put things right. You will need to exercise your own judgement to determine whether the breach is likely to be of material significance and should be reported.

Example: Several members' benefits have been calculated incorrectly. The errors have been corrected, with no financial detriment to the members. However the breach was caused by a system error which may have wider implications for other public service schemes using the same system.

Where the cause, effect, reaction and wider implications of a breach, when considered together, are not likely to be of material significance. These should be recorded but do not need to be reported.

Example: A member's benefits have been calculated incorrectly. This was an isolated incident, which has been promptly identified and corrected, with no financial detriment to the member. Procedures have been put in place to mitigate against this happening again.

All breaches should be recorded even if the decision is not to report.

When using the traffic light framework individuals should consider the content of the red, amber and green sections for each of the cause, effect, reaction and wider implications of the breach, before you consider the four together. Some useful examples of this is framework is provided by The Pensions Regulator at the following link:

Introduction

This document is the report on the West Midlands Fire Service Altair DR test which was conducted in October by Aquila Heywood at our alternate datacentre.

The service was successfully recovered and tested by West Midlands Fire Service as detailed below.

Scope

Within scope of the BCP trial was the access and functionality of the Altair service. All activities were conducted at the secondary datacentre.

Test Results

Altair

The Altair instance was active within 48 hours of the start point of the trial, including Aquila Heywood's successful verification that the recovered service was operational.

Timescales

Below is a rough timeline of events as part of the DR test:

- 23/09/2022 – Emailed West Midlands Fire Service's Pensions Team contact with the proposed window for the DR replication test to take place.
- 06/10/2022 – Enabled the replication job for the DR server to be created in the alternate datacentre.
- 07/10/2022 – Confirmed the replication job has completed successfully. Enabled the DR user account and IAM configuration to allow access to the DR service.
- 07/10/2022 – Notified West Midlands Fire Service's Pensions Team contact that the DR service is available for testing to be performed, and that the service will be available for the next 10 working days
- 25/10/2022 – Received confirmation from Paul Gwynn that the DR testing has been completed successfully.
- 25/10/2022 – Test complete – DR service has been terminated early due to completion of testing and deleted from the alternate datacentre.

Conclusion

The DR process has been tested and confirmed both the External Infrastructure team at Heywood Ltd, and independently tested and verified by Paul Gwynn, contact in the pensions department for West Midlands Fire Service. Therefore, we can consider the DR test for 2022 successful. We will be in touch later in the year to organise the next DR test for 2023.

This is to certify that:

PENSION BOARD

Item 12

4 July 2023

Draft Training Plan 2023/24

1. Background

- 1.1. As stated within the Pension Board Terms of Reference, it is for individual Pension Board members to be satisfied that they have the appropriate degree of knowledge and understanding to enable them to properly exercise their functions as a member of the Pension Board.
- 1.2. In line with this requirement Pension Board members are required to be able to demonstrate their knowledge and understanding and to refresh and keep their knowledge up to date. Pension Board members will be supported to maintain a written record of relevant training and development.
- 1.3. Pension Board should regularly review their skills, competencies, and knowledge to identify gaps or weaknesses. Pension Board members will be expected to attend training to ensure that their knowledge and skills are maintained.

2. Knowledge and Skills Required

- 2.1. The knowledge and skills required of pension board members are set out in law and described in more detail within The Pension Regulator's Code of Practice 14: Governance and Administration of Public Service Pension Schemes. They state that Pension board members must:
 - be conversant¹ with their scheme rules, which are primarily found in the scheme regulations
 - be conversant with documented administration policies currently in force for their pension scheme (e.g., reporting breaches, IDRPs, discretionary functions etc.)
 - have knowledge and understanding of the law relating to pensions (and any other matters prescribed in legislation) to the degree appropriate for them to be able to carry out their role, responsibilities and duties.

¹ Being 'conversant' means having a working knowledge of the scheme regulations and policies, so that pension board members can use them effectively when carrying out their duties.

2.2. Pension board members' breadth of knowledge and understanding should be sufficient to allow them to understand fully and challenge any information or advice they are given. They should understand how that information or advice impacts on any issue or decision relevant to their responsibilities and duties.

3. Training Needs Assessment

3.1. Members undertook a Training Needs Assessment in June 2023, the results of which are recorded in Appendix A. It identified two key areas for training, where at least one member rated their understanding as poor:

- Understanding of the law relating to pensions, such as the Pensions Act 2013
- TPR Code of Practice No. 14 Governance and Administration of Public Service Pension Schemes

3.2. It should also be noted that in only one area – the role of the pension board and its members – did a majority of pension board members rate their understanding as better than “average”.

3.3. There was also a specific request for further training on current issues and developments, such as Pension Dashboards and Immediate Detriment.

4. Training Plan
